DAVID EMMONS AMONG FACULTY FOR LONDON PROGRAM

MISSOULA--

Dr. David Emmons, associate professor of history at the University of Montana, has been selected as a faculty participant in the Northwest Interinstitutional Council on Study Abroad's (NICSA) program in London, England, spring quarter of 1977.

NICSA, under the auspices of the American Heritage Association, comprises 10 Pacific Northwest colleges and universities, including UM and Montana State University in Bozeman, and maintains campuses in Avignon, France, and London, England.

During spring quarter in London, Emmons will teach a course entitled "British Images of the New World (1550-1910)" and another course on Anglo-American social and cultural crosscurrents of the 19th century entitled the "Transatlantic Community."

British adjunct faculty member for the quarter is Bridgett Curtiss-Pippin who will teach a course on London museums, with emphasis on art history.

Participating during the upcoming quarter in NICSA's London program are some 48 students from the Pacific Northwest including eight from the University of Montana. Students are assigned home stays in the host country and use facilities of the City University of London and various museums, libraries and historical sites.

Emmons attended the University of Colorado, Boulder, where he received three degrees-- bachelor of arts in 1961, master of arts in 1963 and doctor of philosophy degree in 1969. He joined the UM faculty in 1967.
